

Seven thousand years ago a great personality was born. His name was Sadáshiva. A legend even in his own lifetime, and ultimately to be regarded as the father of human civilization, yet few know the story of how this great man became the god of all gods...

This film has at its core the renewal of a great and timeless message, still as relevant today as it was in times of old. Bringing to life the story of Shiva's fight for justice, righteousness and peace in the fledgling society of his day, that message emerges, in essence, as that of unification: the coming together of all people as one; of all minds as one mind; and ultimately of all minds with the Oneness that pervades and encompasses all things for all time.
